ARE the Farmers of California ready to accept the proposition that they shall bear all the burdens of taxation while the merchant, the owners of fine houses and the money loaners go tax free?

McGuire's theory of taxing only the land owners shows where he stands with the monopolists and railroads.

McGuire Says: "My proposition is to impose all taxes upon the value of the land exclusive and irrespective of the improvements thereon, and to abolish all other form of taxation."

THE editor of the NEWS has always contended that the advent of women into the political field would greatly conduce to purify politics, but when we find a lady candidate "setting 'em up" to the boys in regular campaign style he is forced to modify his opinions a trifle.

THE Democrats do not hesitate to circulate any kind of a report against the Republican candidate for sheriff. This is one of the offices they most desire to capture. It means a great portion of the county printing to the Democratic papers and several deputys to Democratic politicians. Their methods, though, will be condemned at the polls in November.

HENRY T. GAGE, the Republican candidate for governor, has never accepted a railroad case or foreclosed a mortgage on a man's home during his many years practice in law. He has won more cases against the railroads than any attorney in the southern part of the state and at the present time is conducting a damage suit against the Southern Pacific railroad.

O. O. WEBBER, Republican nominee for district attorney is one of the candidates who should easily win at the coming election. Courteous, and gentlemanly in a social way, careful and intelligent in business transactions, a good lawyer, and in every way well fitted to discharge the duties devolved upon the incumbent of that office, he should certainly poll every Republican vote in the county.

SOMERS B. FULTON, of whom none can say an ill word, has made a good county clerk. His office has involved a vast amount of business, and we deem it safe to say that no less mistakes have been made in any office of the kind in the state. His experience during his present incumbency will serve him well in serving the public for another term. He should have every Republican and many Democratic votes.

WILLIAM A. MILLS has a perfect right to the office of recorder and auditor. He has a right, as has everybody, under our free institutions, to aspire to any position. He won the nomination by fair means and not a reason can be urged against his election. A more competent man has never been nominated for that office by any party in this county. He is a farmer and has shown his ability to earn a living on a chicken ranch even in hard times. He is industrious, enterprising and thoroughly educated. A vote for Mills will be a vote properly placed.—Political Outlook.

POLITICAL MEETING.

THE Republicans will hold a political meeting here Saturday evening, L. V. Hitchcock, chairman of the Republican central committee will deliver the principal oration. The county candidates will all be present and make short addresses. One of the principal features of the evening will be the entertaining and impressive songs sung by the Glee club, composed of six well known young men of Santa Rosa, viz: W. E. Woodward, Leroy Smith, Olney Pedigo, Rolfe Thompson, Frank Drophry and W. S. Keenan.

POOR BUT HONEST.

In reply to the calumnies heaped upon Frank J. Murphy by the Santa Rosa Democrat the Republican says in part:

So far as property is concerned, Frank J. Murphy is a poor man. He has never earned a large salary and there have been sickness and death in his family that have called for the expenditure of a good deal of money. Then, too, he has been liberal in relieving distress. There has never been a time when he would not share his last dollar with anybody that needed it. But while Frank J. Murphy is poor in purse, while he has no rich and liberal men backing him and spending money like water to secure his election, he is rich in a clear, bright mind, rich in a strong and active body, rich in qualifications and a laudable ambition to be a true and devoted servant of the people in the office of sheriff of this county. We expect him to win the campaign of calumny that is being made against him. We expect him to triumph over the campaign of calumny that is being made against him. We expect the true and many men of this county to rally to his support and rebuke the slimy creatures who are saying false and malicious things against him. If these slanderers did not consider their case desperate they would scarcely resort to so despicable a course.

Up in the Vale of Pansies.

The following article was received this week from an art critic of some note who visited the play at the Harvest Festival last Saturday evening. It was inspired, we believe, with no thought of personality, but as an expression of the impression of the play on the writer, and is offered to the public with the best of good will:

SONOMA, Cal., Oct. 6, '98.
To the Editor Sonoma News:

DEAR SIR,—Why does a young author attempt either to startle or exalt people? The aim may be ambitious but the point is sometimes missed owing perhaps to lack of sympathy and failure to understand on the part of an audience.

Nor is the actor always to blame. Sometimes he overrates his own strength, and the strength of his troupe, for he ever so willing and brave he can not carry alone the entire burden and responsibility of a play. He may be able in a way to speak for his company and act for his companions, but he can not think for them any more than he can think individually for his audience. I rather fancy Mr. Weed's Greek play was almost as far beyond his fellow-Greeks as it soared above his listeners.

The former followers were but followers indeed, putting neither spirit nor—well I won't say intelligence, but I mean something like it—into their work. Doubtless some excuse can be found for them in the personal discomfort that must have attended the foot-steps, however thoughtless and merry of the gay youths of the sporting fraternity clothed in the costume which did so little to protect and so much to expose; as well as of the frolicsome fairies so airily gownned. The singing, too, of this happy band was marked by a certain unsteadiness, whether it was a tremor from excitement or a shiver from cold I don't pretend to say. Of course, another time when clothed and in their right mind they might do better.

Now for the latter. They wanted to hear and were willing to understand. They were equally ready and anxious to be amused or edified. Patiently they listened and into appreciative silence. True it was not always that they could follow Mr. Weed's flights of fancy, but they rested secure in the belief of a final happy culmination. It came rather suddenly when one was first beginning to look for the climax. The plot, too, offered surprises in shape of introducing incidents emanating decidedly of the present prescience age. Further, at times, the actors fell from Grecian grace and in speech and gesture, especially in the Olympic tournament scene resembled nothing so much as the "rooters" selected by the respective colleges to cheer and encourage their favorites during the great yearly collegiate football match.

Of course there were exceptions. Mrs. Weed's interpretation both as to meaning, time and place was always satisfactory and her graceful, easy manner very pleasing.

The slave was good, too, and worthy of small mention. The irate father too often succeeded in carrying himself away to be impressive, or to bear his hearers with him to his sublime height. He appeared, when thoroughly enraged to imagine himself either in hallway or office where the summary throw and kick, so much in vogue by business men and politicians, is deemed the prompt and effective method of disposing of the inconvenient lover and creditor alike.

There was another thing about the play though I liked. I liked the very last scene. The speech about the crowned victor and the manner of deliver.

So much for the drama, now for a little about the singing. Miss Hope's voice I adore. It has a rare sympathy and tenderness and sounded all the more effective when it came down from the hillside retreat.

Mr. Benn's voice emanating from another and lower pinnacle was very artistic. The song pretty, and rendered in a manner leaving nothing to be desired save the recall of one truant note. The great distance intervening and the grand height on which Mr. Bacchus took his stand are reasons enough for its failing to reach earth. 'Twas a pity 'twas lost. But I have some sort of a crazy idea that the music was quite an attempt, nor was the score placed in ignorant hands.

There is still something else. The unique cards prepared one for the Bacchanalian setting of the play but gave no hint of the beauty of the drive. The colored lanterns hanging in the grape-vines; the curving, steep road, just narrow enough to be exciting and enable one's driver to exhibit a bit of his horsemanship. The top of the grade at last; the open level studded with trees to which were tied the horses of hundreds of carriages. And everywhere the continuous line of lanterns. Then the naturally sectioned off spaces utilized by the actors for green-rooms and their bright, cheery camp-fires. The hill doing duty as audience chamber, dotted with people; before them the stage, exits and prompters box, all nature's own handiwork. The six white columns crowned with leaping fire and a perfect moon casting pure, white light over all. It was a pretty scene. More, it was artistic, beautiful. And the play even though dipping into the Greek classics was enjoyed by hundreds of men women and children. They were happy in the entertainment so kindly offered them and justly proud of their gifted entertainer, who, after repeated calls for "Ben," reluctantly appeared and made them a modest little speech of thanks and deprecation. S. G.

The Train Wrecker Captured.

Hugh C. Griffin, who turned the switch that wrecked the train at Gelston Station a week ago last Sunday, has been captured at Vallejo. On learning of the wreck Deputy Sheriff Ohm took the matter in hand and two days after the occurrence got a vague description and struck the trail of the supposed criminal. He tracked him to Vallejo, where accompanied by the Vallejo authorities he searched the vicinity but failed to get further track of his man. Ohm left a description of the man with the Vallejo marshal and returned home. In the meantime one of the city officers arrested a man for vagrancy which a day or two later they discovered to be the man wanted. Sheriff Allen was sent for and Griffin is now languishing in the county jail at Santa Rosa. To the untiring vigilance of Deputy Ohm is due the capture of the criminal.

CITY BOARD MEETING.

At the regular meeting of the city council Oct. 5th, the following bills were presented and laid over for want of funds:

J. E. Robin, salary etc., $17.60
P. G. Kell, repairing hydrants 3.49
D. Valente Labor and mds. 9.75
B. L. Cook, sprinkling streets 63.70

The famous $60 bill of H. H. Granice was cut to the amount of cash in the treasury, $73.60, and ordered dumped in his lap if he would condescend to accept that amount as a present from the city.

The street committee was instructed to purchase gravel for the streets. Marshal Robin reported having fixed his water closet so that its contents would no longer drain into the ditches, and had notified Mr. Weyl to do the same.

Ordinance No. 60 calling a special election to vote on issuing bonds for a municipal water system on Oct. 24th, 1898, was unanimously passed.

If you have a boy with any of these symptoms there are 18 chances out of 20 that the boy will, within 18 months, be past the aid of medical skill—consequently at the mercy of that dread disease—consumption. Take warning in time! One never-failing and GUARANTEED CURE, and that is VERVAIN, the most remarkable discovery of the century. WANTED.—To purchase on the installment plan, a good, young, gentle driving horse of good size. For particulars inquire at this office.

W. O. Hocker has organized an evening commercial class to instruct the young men of this community in the art of book-keeping, penmanship, etc. He starts out with eleven scholars, with a prospect of adding quite a number more to the class. The lessons are taken three evenings each week.

The announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Emma Johansen of Sonoma to Mr. J. Golds of Napa. Miss Johansen is the accomplished daughter of Mr. L. M. Johansen and Mr. Golds is a prosperous young farmer of Napa county. The wedding will take place at the home of the bride in the near future.

Mrs. J. J. Law suffered two strokes of paralysis last Saturday morning from which she now lays at the point of death. Dr. Walliser was called but is unable to do more than ease the pain and prolong life for a time. Relatives have been sent for and her death is looked for at any time.

Mrs. G. H. Hotz will have a formal opening of her fall and winter stock of millinery goods on Monday, Oct. 10th, to which she invites the ladies of the valley.

Arthur B. Schell, who left for Manila on the City of Peking last May with the California volunteers, writes a very interesting letter telling of his experiences in the two engagements fought there. Company B, to which he belongs, is the color company of the First regiment landing with the stars and stripes and were the first to reach the city of Manila when it was taken. The second battalion is at present quartered in an old palatial mansion which was owned by a wealthy Chinese merchant who is now in Belgium.

The Harvest Festival.

The moonlight play written and produced by Prof. Benj. Weed at the "Vale of Pansies," a lovely little nook near the Rhyne Farm, last Saturday evening was well attended and equally as well enjoyed. Quite a number of the young people of the valley took part, and considering that they were all amateurs, the play was well rendered.

Some of the actors showed considerable talent. Mr. and Mrs. Weed, Miss Hope, Mr. Bein, and some others whose identity we failed to catch, done exceptionally well.

Rev. Chas. D. Milliken Chosen.

The members of the Congregational church, in a business meeting held Wednesday evening for the purpose of considering the matter, voted unanimously to extend an invitation to Rev. Charles D. Milliken to accept the charge of the First Congregational church of this place. Mr. Milliken is a man of high intellectual attainments and if he accepts the invitation the Congregational church of Sonoma may again feel itself fortunate in the selection of a pastor.

In the Dark.

For nearly two weeks the electric lights which promised so much at first have been throwing no light on the dark side of life in this community. The company, however, are figuring on some changes and hope to be able to light up again in the near future.

The Munfrey-Dunn Wedding.

A quite home wedding took place October 2nd at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Dunn, in the southern suburbs of town. When Wm. Osmund Munfrey and Lillie C. Dunn were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by the Rev. Charles Milliken.

After the customary congratulations, followed by a wedding dinner, the happy couple took the afternoon train for San Francisco, where they will permanently reside. Mr. and Mrs. Munfrey were the recipients of many handsome presents.

Those invited to witness the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Munfrey, Mr. and Mrs. John McKinnon, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Middlemas, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Manning, Mrs. F. J. Cooper, the Misses J. E. Munfrey, Annie Dunn, Olive Kinney, Lelia Kinney, Janet Munfrey, Edna Cooper, Messrs. E. M. and C. W. Dunn, Howard and Hubert Munfrey, Harry and Will Dunn, Mr. L. C. Dunn, Ray Cooper, Bruce Munfrey and Mr. Stewart Middlemas.

GLEN ELLEN GLEANINGS.

The Republican meeting held at Mervyn hall on Saturday evening was in every way a most successful event. The following candidates were present: Robt. A. Poppe, Sheridan Peterson, J. E. Metzger, Frank J. Murphy, E. F. Woodward, M. V. Vanderhoof and W. A. Mills, each of whom in turn entertained the audience with a brief but appropriate speech. The Hon. L. V. Hitchcock was the orator of the evening and delivered a most eloquent address on the important issues of the campaign. Our streets were illuminated with huge bonfires and many colored lanterns, which combined with excellent music furnished by the band and Glee club were very attractive features of our first Republican "blow out."

Mr. E. F. Woodward, the Republican nominee for treasurer and present incumbent of the important office for which he has been re-nominated, is a "man among men," and though he may not go rushing over the length and breadth of the county urging and beseeching the voters to give him their support, it is almost certain that he will be re-elected to the responsible position which he has for the last four years filled with such excellent ability and such thorough integrity. Though we may not receive as many visits from Mr. Woodward as from some of the other candidates, we must not conclude that he has "gone to Goshen."

At the mass meeting the other evening a letter to chairman Zane from the Republican nominee for constable was read, stating that his absence was due to the fact that he had been on the road and in the hills night and day for the past week in search of the Gelston train wreckers. Sonoma county has, perhaps, never had an officer who has invariably displayed such courage, energy and ability in the discharge of his official work, as the deputy sheriff of this township. There are "no flies on" Charley Ohm, he is always found at the post of duty and it is a dead safe bet that he will be elected by a big majority.

Immediately after the meeting on Saturday night a grand reception and banquet was tendered to the visiting candidates at the Parlor of the Owl club. The Grand High Ranger of the order acted as toastmaker and the guests were delighted in listening to the many ancient jokes, venerable stories and moss-covered conundrums contributed by the gentleman at the head of the table. The festivities concluded with the presentation of a fine set of surgical instruments to Dr. G. Z. Hunter, the examining physician of the order. These beautiful and useful instruments are all of local manufacture, having been made by brother C. E. Mitchell, a skillful young worker in iron and steel and an honored member of the "Owls."
